Gratitude Report

REIGNITED

EXCEPTIONAL RESILIENCE, BRAVERY AND DETERMINATION IN THE FACE OF EXTRAORDINARY ADVERSITY.

That is a Finnish concept called SISU.

It strikes me as the appropriate word to describe this past year. Glimmers of hope from the past three years became brighter and brighter as the Public Health Emergency officially ended. We were a bit tattered and torn, but we were also STRONGER and acutely aware of the transformation happening all around us.

Life also began to feel a little more... familiar. As our community re-emerged and began to engage again with their health, it reignited our PURPOSE. We welcomed more new patients through our doors than ever before and our primary, urgent, and specialty providers cared for a record number of community members. So did our emergency department, infusion center, acute inpatient areas, breast center, and cardiac cath lab, among others.

2023 ushered in a new day and new ways for us to care for our community like family. We turned our sights again toward the future. We began to dream about what could be and set into motion the plans to make it happen. Our future is bright and full of hope because of the support of our Board members, leaders, medical staff, employees, donors, volunteers, and community members. Thank you for fueling our passion to care for others.

With RESILIENCE and tremendous gratitude.

Your gift gives back

We are incredibly grateful for those who have joined Valley in caring for our community like family. To view our donor list, please scan the QR code or visit the link below. Making a one-time donation, becoming a recurring monthly donor, or leaving a legacy with an estate gift are tremendous ways to support your public hospital and our South King County residents.

Valley Medical Center has been involved in my life, from taking care of my parents, my surgeries, and most recently caring for and helping me survive my cancer diagnosis. The nurses, doctors, and MAs at the infusion center are so caring, helpful, and encouraging and I consider them part of my family. I felt the need to give a little something to continue the work of taking care of our community.

Valley Medical Center to begin Phase One of South King County's first Cancer Center

A cancer diagnosis is frightening for anyone. Patients and their families wrestle with how to find the best care and whether that care is accessible to them. For many local residents, traveling to Seattle for cancer care is simply not an option—especially for frequent appointments or lengthy infusion treatments. We know that patients are better served when they can get treatment closer to home, at an institution they know and trust, with family and friends by their side.

We are very excited to announce that the Facilities, Finance & Audit Committee of Valley's Board of Trustees has unanimously voted to amend the FY24 budget, increasing the capital budget by $10 million for Valley's future Cancer Center.

This signals the first major new investment made into expanding oncology services at Valley since before the beginning of the pandemic. "COVID wreaked havoc on our financial position and I'm happy to say we are finally able to start planning for the future again. Cancer is the #1 diagnosis in our hospital district and oncology cases continue to rise, so it makes sense that our first major investment since the pandemic would be our future Cancer Center," explains Valley CEO, Jeannine Erickson Grinnell.

This $10M paired with the recent $1.8M gift by Valley Girls & Guys, a local nonprofit bringing HOPE to patients of all cancer types, allows Valley to begin Phase One of the Cancer Center, which includes a 41-bay infusion center, compounding pharmacy, reception and fast track area, laboratory, and the Trapper & Samantha Wellbeing Support Center.

Thanks to these funds, along with community donations, Phase One funding is nearly complete and construction will begin in 2024. Phase Two (Oncology & Hematology Clinic, Multidisciplinary Clinic, and Café) and Phase Three (Radiation Oncology) are estimated to cost an additional $45M. Your help is needed – we invite you to learn more and join the Cancer Center campaign today!

One nurse makes a difference: How Valley's RN Care Managers are improving care in our community

Valley patient Agnes recently received life-saving care at Valley. She credits her RN Care Manager with helping to keep her out of the hospital after a long stay. Hear Agnes' story and learn more about

Collaborative Care and a Cancer-Free Outcome

Debbie hesitated to get her colorectal cancer screening after the COVID-19 pandemic emerged. Following her doctor's advice, she opted for a home-based test, which came back with a possible cancer result. She was referred to Dr. Joseph Roberts, gastroenterologist, for a colonoscopy. When this revealed colon cancer, Dr. Greta Bernier, colorectal surgeon, joined Debbie's care team. Debbie had a successful, minimally invasive robotic surgery, removing the tumor completely without needing further treatment.

Facing a cancer diagnosis is daunting, but with the genuine care, expertise, and support Debbie received, she felt

she was in the best possible hands right here in

Valley today: SISU in our present and future

True to our commitment as a public district hospital, we are determined and steadfast in our purpose to provide outstanding and compassionate care for all.

Valley recently conducted our 2023 Community Health

Needs Assessment (CHNA) to ensure Valley's efforts align with our community's greatest needs. As we expand our preventive and specialty care services, Valley renews our dedication to serving our diverse community with dignity and respect.

Continuing to meet our community's greatest needs

Valley conducts CHNAs regularly to verify the largest health needs in our service area. The resulting Implementation Strategy guides how our programs and activities can create deep impacts. The 2023 CHNA identified Access to Care, Behavioral Health, and Chronic Health Conditions as top needs, with cancer identified as the number one cause of illness in our service area. This information will guide our work in the coming years.

In addition, as part of Valley's promise to cultivate a culture of equity for those we serve, our Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion efforts have also grown to include our Caregiver Commitment, Affinity Groups, and learning opportunities.

Celebrating and paying tribute to our caregivers

Every Valley staff member commits to their role as a caregiver, whether directly caring for patients or as support through food and environmental services, technology, and more. With a donation to our Thank a Caregiver program, you can show your appreciation and give lasting recognitionto someone who has delivered or received outstanding care. Through our Tributeprogram, we have the privilege of honoring remarkable individuals and caregivers connected to Valley who have passed away, clinics and teams that are no longer operating, and notable people and events in Valley's history in a lasting and meaningful way.
